Name _____ Period _____ Date _____

The case — read this first

A crew is installing a run of shelving in a school hallway. The anchors that were ordered are rated for 40 pounds each. They did not arrive, so the site lead substitutes anchors he already has in the truck — rated for 15 pounds. He tells the crew, "It is just books, and we are behind. We will swap them out later." The shelves go up Friday. Nobody writes it down. Six weeks later a loaded shelf pulls out of the wall during passing period. No one is seriously hurt.
